An Introduction to The Psychology of Money

The psychology of money is complex. This masterclass will explore the concept of money as an energy source and the money disorders we each bring to the table (whether we admit it out loud or not). Money disorders are persistent patterns of self-limiting financial behaviour. To free ourselves from them, we need to identify them and revise their power over us.

What would Australia look like in 2030 if we simply listened to the needs of its people? Regenerating Australia is a short film by the team behind the high-impact feature documentaries 2040 and That Sugar Film. It is based on a four month interview process with a diverse group of Australians who shared their hopes and dreams for the country's future.

Featuring Kerry O'Brien, Sandra Sully, Gorgi Coghlan, Tim Flannery, Larissa Behrendt, David Pocock and other well-known voices, the film is set on New Year's Eve 2029 and takes the form of a news bulletin looking back at the decade 'that could be'. A decade that saw Australia transition to a fairer, cleaner, more regenerative economy that values Australia's greatest assets – First Nations' wisdom, our unique natural environment and our sense of community.

A Field Guide to Investing In the Indigenous Impact Ecosystem

Breakfast

Impact Asia Pacific is delighted to host this Summit breakfast as part of our ongoing commitment to supporting the development and capacity building of the Indigenous business and impact investing ecosystem. Expertly facilitated by First Australians Capital Head of Strategy and Engagement, Tiarne Shutt, this breakfast workshop will give you a powerful lens into the Indigenous economic ecosystem.

The Indigenous economy is growing at 12.5% p.a (Supply Nation). The opportunity to invest and empower Indigenous entrepreneurs to achieve their business and community goals can only be achieved by placing self-determination at the centre of investments. The team at First Australians Capital are pioneering a new approach to Indigenous investing by utilising very old ways of Indigenous thinking. This session is for investors looking to create an impact and understand how to find their place within the Indigenous economy. Key topics covered are the Indigenous economic ecosystem, market opportunities, Indigenous first investing principles and understanding how to shift power back to Indigenous enterprises.
